

Mr. Rep's APES Summer Assignments

<https://connect.kcsd.org/display/replogle>

So you've decided to take APES. Good luck. Remember, this is a college level course crammed into 7 classes per week with a "FINAL" the first week in May. We will be covering a tremendous amount of information in a relatively short period of time. Although you will be exposed to all of the topics covered in the syllabus we will not have time to go into every detail about every topic in the limited time we have. Therefore, you will be expected to complete textbook readings at the pace of a college level course. To get off to a good start I have some assignments for you to complete over the summer. These will be due the first day of class in the fall and we will have your first Unit test on these chapters during the second week of the year. Power Point presentations and copies of the necessary worksheets can be found on my wiki page under the APES section. If you have any questions, you can e-mail me at mreplogle@kcsd.org and I will respond as soon as I can. I will be away at various times during the summer, so you may not get a timely response. This is not an excuse for not having the work done.

ASSIGNMENT 1:

- Review the power point presentations for chapters 1,2 and 20
- For each chapter you should:
 1. Write out the key terms and definitions into your APES notebook
 2. Write out answers to the Module objectives into your APES notebook

ASSIGNMENT 2:

- Complete the APES Summer Math assignment.

ASSIGNMENT 3:

- Read "The Tragedy of the Commons" and answer the Tragedy of the Commons question sheet.
